Hello

Welcome to my very first markdown document. In this assignment, you will learn about the different basic function of R markdown. First, you can write something in italic by writing the text between asterisks like this one: * . Second, you can write text by using two asterisks  to write something in bold.

What is also fantastic, is that you can include R code chunks in R markdown documents as the following one, which shows a simple multiplication.

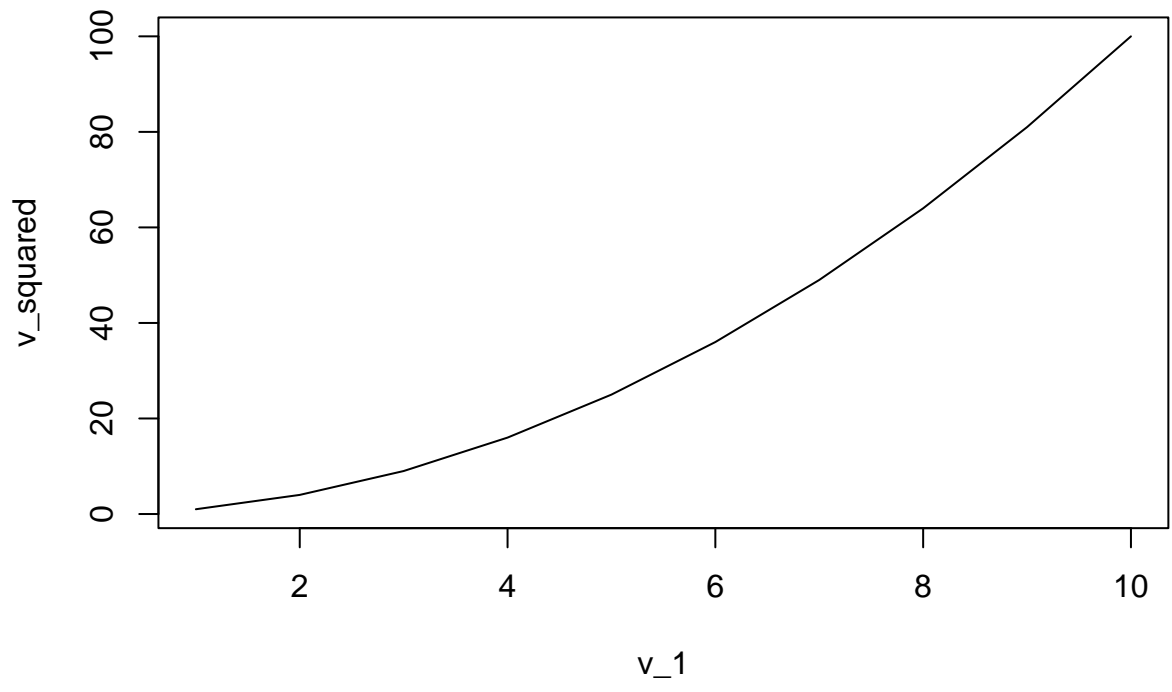

```

```
[1] 4
```

Plots

You can also embed plots such as the following:

```
v_1 <- 1:10
v_squared <- v_1 ^ 2 plot(x = v_1,
     y = v_squared,
     type = 'l')
```

Conclusion

I am glad I've learned this new skill!
